

Green Tree Stream.

Coromandel Ranges

From an Email from Jim Morrow, Auckland Tramping Club:

“Green Tree Stream. This is a tributary of the Kapowai River, we have gone down here many times in the past, unfortunately access is now quite difficult as the old tracks we used up the Gentle Annie Ridge are not maintained and now almost gone. Last year I looked at the old track to Welcome Jack from the Rangihau to Kauaeranga pack track. The area had been burned and exposed the track, tried to get a look at a way into the Green Tree from there, I think it is on, but didnt have enough time to explore it properly. For your purposes the Green Tree would be of interest, some good high waterfalls, there is a camping spot on the true right of the Kapowai across from the Green Tree confluence. The Kapowai river is a most pleasant tramp down on a hot day, many deep pools to swim but not what you are really looking for.”
